2415.03 HIGHLY QUALIFIED TEACHERS

The No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) requires all teachers be or become highly qualified in the core academic content area(s) they teach in accordance with the United States Department of Education and the New Jersey Department of Education highly qualified teacher requirements. The details of these requirements are more specifically set forth at 20 U.S.C. §7801.

All teachers with primary responsibility for direct instruction in one or more of the core academic content areas are required to demonstrate they satisfy the federal definition of a Highly Qualified Teacher. This includes elementary generalists who teach all subjects to a particular grade/class, special education teachers who provide direct instruction in one or more content areas, middle and secondary level content area instructors and basic skills supplemental teachers. This also includes bilingual teachers and English as a second language (ESL) teachers who provide direct instruction in core academic content.

The New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards that align with the list of core academic subjects of §9101 of NCLB are: language arts literacy, science, mathematics, social studies, world languages, and visual and performing arts. Teachers in the areas of health, physical education, technological literacy, career education and consumer, family and life skills and those holding educational services certificates are not required to satisfy the federal definition of a Highly Qualified Teacher.

Teachers who have achieved highly qualified status retain highly qualified status permanently for the teaching assignment designated on the approved highly qualified teacher forms. No teacher providing direct instruction in core content areas is grandfathered or exempt from this process.

The district shall maintain the appropriate highly qualified documentation for all teachers who provide direct instruction in core content areas. When a teacher changes teaching assignments, which requires different content expertise, additional highly qualified teacher forms must be completed and kept on file within the district. Highly qualified teacher documentation should be completed for all new teachers and for those with new teaching assignments at the beginning of each school year.

When a teacher obtains employment in a new school district, the new district must contact the previous place of employment to have the teacher's official highly qualified teacher forms sent to the new district. A teacher hired from another State must hold New Jersey certification and must meet New Jersey's highly qualified teacher requirements. Out-of-State teachers may provide documentation to support their highly qualified teacher status from the previous State in which they taught.

Highly Qualified Teachers

All Title I schools must send out a letter in the beginning of every school year informing parent(s) or legal guardian(s) that they have the right to know the qualifications of their child's teacher. The letter should be sent by all Title I and non-Title I districts. In addition, in all Title I schools, the parent(s) or legal guardian(s) of pupils whose teacher is not yet highly qualified must be notified. Copies of these letters must be kept on file in the school.
